

“THE CHICKEN CAME FIRST – WHY CHRONOLOGY COUNTS IN THE MIDDLE EAST AND CANADA”

Shimon Koffler Fogel CEO,
Centre for Israel and Jewish Affairs

DATE: Tuesday,
November 22nd, 2011

TIME: 7:00 PM

LOCATION: Windsor Jewish Community Centre

Shimon Fogel serves as the CEO for the Centre for Israel and Jewish Affairs; the central headquarters for strategic advice, expert support, and information for Jewish and pro-Israel advocacy in Canada. The new organization is responsible for all activities previously administered by Canadian Jewish Congress, the Canada-Israel Committee, the Quebec-Israel Committee and the University Outreach Committee.

Shimon Fogel has over 25 years of experience in Jewish communal advocacy, having served as the CEO of the Canada-Israel Committee from 2000 to 2010, having previously served as its Director of Government Relations. Prior to joining the CIC, Shimon Fogel served as the founding National Director of Community Services at Canadian Jewish Congress. As a long-time lobbyist and experienced community professional, he is fluent on the full range of public policy issues of concern to the Canadian Jewish community.

Shimon Fogel has served as a consultant to Parliament's Standing Committee on Foreign Affairs, and served as a member of the prestigious Round-Table on Global Security under the Department of National Defense. He regularly serves as a guest lecturer at universities in Canada and abroad.

Embassy Magazine ranked him among the 50 most important people influencing Canadian foreign policy.
